

Centre for Research & Development

Research Supervisor (Guide) Profiles

Discipline of Supervision: Psychology/ Counselling Psychology/ Clinical Psychology

Dr. A Madalaimuthu

Assistant Professor
Department of Psychology (PG)
School of Humanities and Social Sciences

Areas of Specialisation:

Applied Psychology, Forensic Psychology, Computational Psychology, Competence Development, Clinical Hypnotherapy

Dr. Madalaimuthu is an interdisciplinary researcher spanning Psychology, Artificial Intelligence, Public Administration. He has undertaken research and professional training in psychological profiling, clinical hypnotherapy and brief behavioural techniques. His academic work also encompasses psychological profiling, behavioural interventions, and applied psychological research. His broader research vision is to advance Behavioural Governance by integrating psychological science, artificial intelligence, and public policy to address emerging behavioural and societal challenges.

Selected Publications:

1. Madalaimuthu, A., & Kadiravan, S. (2022). The Mediating Role of Health Anxiety and Corona Virus Anxiety in the Relationship between Personality and Depression Among General Population during COVID-19 Pandemic. ECS Transactions, 107(1), 1689–1697. <https://doi.org/10.1149/10701.1689ecst>
2. Nesin, S. M., Sharma, K., Burghate, K. N., & Anthony, M. (2025). Neurobiology of emotional regulation in cyberbullying victims. Frontiers in Psychology, 16. <https://doi.org/10.3389/fpsyg.2025.1473807>
3. Robert, S. J., Regis, S. S., Suryasree, K., & Anthony, M. (2026). Mapping Global Research on Sex Work and Its Construction as Deviant Behavior: A Bibliometric and Systematic Review. Deviant Behavior, 1–27. <https://doi.org/10.1080/01639625.2026.2709230>